

Specialty Training Opportunities Offered in the Operating Room

Current Kaiser Permanente Staff Nurses now have a pathway to expand their practice into a new specialty.

Details:

Through didactic and simulation teaching sessions, coupled with precepted unit orientation, this 24-week program will prepare you to be competent in the Operating Room.

These positions will have an identified training schedule that may be different than the final fixed schedule included in the posting.

At the conclusion of the training, trainees will complete orientation to site specific surgical specialties prior to transition to the schedule/shift awarded to them.

Who can apply?

- Current KP CNA-represented Staff Nurse employees who do not meet the minimum experience qualifications for the specialty they are applying to
- Candidates must have a minimum of 6 months of acute care experience as an RN within the past three years (can be in any inpatient setting)

Apply the Week of January 24!

- The positions will be posted on January 24, 2022, and will remain posted for 5 business days. Staff Nurses who are interested in the Staff Nurse II Specialty Training positions should express interest through the KP Careers website.
- To express interest, please visit the internal Kaiser Permanente Careers website www.kaiserpermanentejobs.org and click on "Employee Job Search" to enter the internal site (you will not be able to find the jobs otherwise)
- Search for the job codes listed below in the "Enter Keyword" box, apply directly to the positions utilizing your online profile, and include an updated resume

More information and job codes are on the following page of this flyer. All training positions will start March 2022. These positions are offered in Oakland and San Francisco.
