April 22, 2026

12:30–1:30 p.m. PST

Sirtaz Adatya, MD
Regional Director for Advanced Heart Failure
Kaiser Permanente Northern California

Join us for an engaging Grand Rounds session featuring the latest approaches to heart failure care. This presentation will highlight current approaches to heart failure care, including updates in medical therapy, the importance of early detection, and the role of a multidisciplinary team in improving patient care and outcomes.

Learning Objectives:

- Describe updates in medical therapy for heart failure
- Identify the importance of early detection of heart failure
- Explain the role of a multidisciplinary approach in heart failure care
- Recognize the potential impact of implicit bias in the evaluation and management of heart failure patients, and apply strategies to promote equitable, evidence-based care.
